

SERMON – EASTER, APRIL 12, 2020

Easter 2020 Final “He Sat On It!” Text: Matthew 28:1-10 Hymn: LSB 464

Grace, mercy, and peace to you from God our Father, and from our Risen Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Amen. He is risen! [He is risen indeed! Alleluia!]

In our Gospel lesson, St. Matthew relates that, An angel of the Lord descended from heaven and came and rolled back the stone and sat on it. *The angel sat on it!

It seems like such an insignificant little detail in the events surrounding the most important day in human history.

But it's crucially important because those words show us that all the strength and might of man, all their efforts to seal the tomb of Jesus by posting a guard and making it as secure as possible, all those are reduced to a chair.

How right the psalmist was when against all the plotting and raging of man, he simply states: He who sits in the heavens, shall laugh.

And today we can add, He who laid in the tomb shall laugh! For Christ is risen! No stone could hold in the Lord of life.

For what is a stone, no matter how big, against the One who took upon Himself the crushing weight of the sin of the world?

What is a stone against the One who came to do battle against Satan and his minions? It is sheer, unadulterated unbelief that says a stone can hold the Son of God, the Lord of life, in a tomb.

But when sin is atoned for, death loses its power and the grave must give up its prey. And so today our victory cry of Christ is risen! means that sin is forgiven.

Christ is risen! means Satan is now a toothless foe.

Christ is risen! means death is defeated, and that just as Christ is risen, so too we will rise to live with Him forever.

For Christ is risen! means Jesus, our Savior, has won!

And so of course the angel sits on the stone. As the famous hymn says: The Strife is Over, the Battle Done. There is no more fighting to do. Now there is rest, peace and joy. PAUSE

But something else happened on that stone that first Easter morning. Not only did it become a chair, it also became a pulpit.

That stone was the pulpit from which the first Easter sermon was proclaimed, as the angel told the women that Jesus had risen from the dead. And then showed them.

The good news here is that the angel rolled back the stone not to provide a way of escape for the Lord, but to show the world that the Lord had already risen.

He rolled it back to help his fellow servants of God believe. He rolled it back for the sake of faith, that the women, the disciples, and all the world might believe Jesus had conquered death.

He rolled it back so that we would know that Jesus' resurrection was no mere spiritual resurrection, but that the risen body of Jesus was wholly and fully alive.

Not just part of Him, but all of Him. Body and soul. Anything less would not have been a victory, or even a partial victory, but no victory at all.

Anything less would have meant that death had not been defeated, but had won after all.

And if death is not defeated, then sin is not defeated.

And if sin is not defeated, then we are still dead in our sins.

And if we are still in our sin, then we have no hope, and Easter is not the most joyous, but the saddest, day of the year.

But the angel is sitting on the stone! The grave is not only open, it is empty. And the angel opens his mouth to proclaim this greatest news of all time. “Do not be afraid, for I know you seek Jesus who was crucified. He is not here, for he has risen, just as he said. Come and see the place where he lay.”

As always when speaking of Christ, angels always bring good news, they told Mary that Christ is conceived. They told the shepherds that Christ is born, and now they tell us the best news of all, Christ is risen!

Those 3 words are the cornerstone of all Christian preaching.

For the stone upon which the angel sat is not only his pulpit, but the pulpit from which all pastors preach.

For without the death and resurrection of Jesus, the Christian religion is just like any other religion in this world – a religion of moralism, intellectualism, or mysticism. A religion that tells folks what we must do to get right with God.

But the angel has told us that we don't need to get right with God, for in the person of Jesus Christ God made peace between He and man, and the fruits of Jesus sinless life, sacrificial death and glorious resurrection are ours by God given faith.

The angel tells us the good news that our forgiveness, life, and salvation are not dependent upon us, but has been accomplished by our Savior, and is given to us.

Given to us by our Savior who is not dead, but risen and living, and still coming to us – like to His disciples then – to dispel our doubts, calm our fears, and forgive our sins.

And so of course the angel sits on the stone, for Christ is our cornerstone. The rock on which the Church is built.

And this is what the prophet Jeremiah also proclaimed to the people of Israel and Judah, some 600 years before Jesus was born. For even then, the preaching of what God had promised to do for His people in what was at the time, their coming Savior, was the cornerstone of all prophetic preaching.

And so hear God's words He inspired Jeremiah to write, which we heard this morning: “Thus says the Lord: I have loved you with an everlasting love; therefore I have continued my faithfulness to you. Again, I will build you, and you shall be built, O virgin Israel.”

Those are important words – for Israel then, and for us today. When Jeremiah spoke those words, God was about to punish His people for their sin; for their idolatry, for wandering away from the Covenant to chase after false gods,

The Babylonian army was at the doorstep of Jerusalem, they would soon conquer God's people, destroy the temple and their cities, and haul most of them off as prisoners of war to Babylon. There they would remain, weeping and mourning, for 70 years.

It is a picture not unlike Good Friday, when because of the sin of His people, Jesus is besieged by His enemies, slain on the cross, dies, and is laid captive to death in the tomb. And there was weeping and mourning.

But Jeremiah then proclaims words of comfort and promise! That God would destroy, in order to make alive.

He told the people that though the nation would die, God loves His people with an everlasting love, will remain faithful to them, and bring them back alive!

He will again raise them up and build them up . . . and then the most astonishing word of all: He calls His people “O virgin Israel.”

Israel, who had committed spiritual adultery against her God throughout their history as God’s covenant people.

Israel, who had prostituted herself with many and various gods. Israel, who was anything but a virgin – is called by her God a virgin again. She is forgiven! And not only forgiven, but restored. It is as if her sin had never taken place at all! As the prophet said, “As far as the East is from the West, so far have I removed your sins from you.”

That’s what forgiveness is, and that is what our God has done for us this Easter Sunday, with the resurrection of Jesus.

For He who was slain for our sin on the cross is raised and made alive again, and in Him, God is bringing back all His people.

He is building us up as His new Israel, His Church, in His everlasting love and faithfulness.

Risen and living, He now comes to us too with this most astonishing word of all: I forgive you all your sin. For us who are unfaithful. For us who turn to our own ways.

For us who in our sin are anything but pure – now in Christ our sin, our regrets, our pasts that haunt us, are gone!

And we are virginal in our purity, as pure and Holy as the Savior who redeemed us. How can this be? St. Paul tells us, “For our sake, He made Jesus to be sin, who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God. PAUSE

And so, of course the angle sits on the stone! That is what Easter is all about. It’s about resting on the cornerstone of the completed work of our Savior. Relying not on ourselves, but on Him as the source of our joy, our proclamation, and our strength.

You know, the women who went to the tomb that first Easter morning had a pretty big obstacle to face. No, not the stone, or death, or the grave! That had all been taken care of for them, by Jesus, just as He had promised.

Their obstacle was their unbelief.

What they needed was faith. How about you? What stones are holding you down, holding you back? What stones are causing you sadness, struggle and fear? What stones seem insurmountable? Is your problem the stones, or unbelief?

Do we need strength, or do we need faith? Is the problem our Savior, or our failure to believe His promises?

Today the angel sits on the stone and proclaims to us: He is risen! Whatever you need has been provided; whatever you fear has been defeated.

Christ is risen, and by grace, you are joined to Him in His death and resurrection in Holy Baptism.

And because He lives, you live as well. By grace through faith, His victory is your victory. And that is a victory proclaimed not only by the angel, but also by Jesus Himself, who came to the women in their fear and joy, so that they fell down before Him in worship, throwing their arms around His feet, not wanting to let go. And yet again, so it is today for you as well.

For you who have not only heard the proclamation of the angel, but you for whom Christ comes in His very same body and blood, that you take hold of Him here, eating His body and drinking His blood.

Receiving from the Lord Himself the joy of forgiveness, the strengthening of your faith, and the promise of life.

For He knows that is what you need. And as often as we eat this bread and drink this cup, we proclaim His victory over death, we celebrate His triumph, and we mock the old, evil foe.

For he could not stop Jesus then, and he still cannot stop him today. As the old hymn states, the Strife is Over, the Battle Done!

So, let us too rejoice this Easter day! Let us too sit on His stone, and laugh with holy joy! For Christ is risen! [He is risen indeed! Alleluia!] Amen.
